

(→) Extended Workforce

You may be looking to enhance your regular workforce with temporary and contract workers, subcontractors, consultants, interns, and sometimes even volunteers to help keep your organization moving forward.

If you're like many current employers, the very face of your labor force is changing.

The make-up of your organization's entire labor force introduces risk, whether these individuals are your employees or not, so it is vitally important to take control of background screening your extended workforce.

Application Verification's ProVerify™ Extended Workforce Solution (EWS) allows employers to determine the background screening standards your entire labor force must meet. Our extended workforce solutions can seamlessly integrate into all industry-specific ProVerify™ service offerings.

1. Achieve Screening Consistency

With our multi-level management system, we further enhance the process of organizing internal information. Our multi-level management system within the ProVerify™ system enables each branch, division, or company to order and maintain its own system, while allowing the overhead management (Program Administrator) to view analysis reports and directly oversee processes. The ability for the management to oversee its contractors and supervise the screening process facilitates efficiency, eliminates undesirable paperwork, and promptly organizes all of your screening and auditing objectives.

2. Transition Without Trauma

ProVerify™'s Vendor Management Program delivers a consistent screening program that allows for easy program implementation by making the transferring of data a streamlined process. Our simple order entry process allows for both employer and applicant driven data entry. This allows for the entry process to be completed by multiple sources and assists in maximized participation. All screening information is kept in specific files dedicated to each candidate or business, which allows for quick and easy reference points.

3. Manage Extended Workforce Risk

Individual Reporting makes audits easy. Program Administrators will receive the exported spreadsheet of every individual who was screened that month. Each screened employee will have their own file with their complete history of performed screens. You will have a comprehensive track of each employee or vendor's screens for your records. You can easily prove to other personnel or auditing agencies that you keep consistent and organized records of each individual.

When your company partners with ProVerify™ you will have access to our team of highly trained program specialists.

Our staff will assist your organization in developing a customized screening solution, provide friendly customer service and technical support, as well as system training and program implementation. Our goal is to provide a screening solution tailored to specific industry requirements and your company's objectives. We invite you to contact us to learn more about how we can assist your company.
